Dear Julie

On behalf of the National Breast Cancer Foundation we sincerely thank you for your generous contribution.

These funds will assist funding our diverse and interesting range of research activities which include:

- Doctoral scholarships: attracting new researchers to the field of breast cancer
- Postdoctoral Scholarships - for our brightest minds to lead future research teams
- Novel Concept Grants - testing new and risky ideas to challenge the status quo
- Project Grants - supporting basic and clinical research exploring all aspects of breast cancer
- Translational Research - taking knowledge gained in the laboratory and clinical trials to treatment and beyond for quality of life
- Facilitation Grants - awarding core funding for facilities that provide materials, expertise or capabilities to accelerate breast cancer research.
- National Collaborative Research Grants - $15 million dollars for three new programs to foster national and bold collaborations between unique groups of researchers to pool knowledge, expertise and resources for large-scale, accelerated programs for the prevention, treatment or management of breast cancer.

For further information and details on our current research activities and successes please visit our website <http://www.nbcf.org.au>.

All contributions are important and appreciated by many women, men and their families and friends affected by breast cancer.

With thanks

Susan Murray
Chief Executive Officer
